his record, but had told nothing he had done. Ellerbe makes $10,000 a year on his farm, and can't live on it; Johnson gets $1,300 a year and can't live on that; Norton gets $1,800 a year, and says he can't live; McLaurin draws $1,200 per annum from the State and yet he wants more: these men are too extravagant to send to Congress, he said. He then said there is a ring in the Sixth District that should be broken up. He objects to Marion having everything. It has the Governor, the comptroller-general, the solicitor, the agent of the sinking fund commission, and now it wants the Congressman. He says he is the best man out and ought to be voted for, the present solicitor of the fourth circuit, was the last speaker on the program. He began by touching upon the charge of his having voted for Deas in 1890 and denied it most emphatically. It is a lie, he said, made for a vile purpose. All the other candidates jumped upon him, seeming to think he is in the lead; that it is Johnson against the field, he said. Some of the candidates are trying to re-establish the old factional lines, but the people want peace, and he is for peace. Norton claimed to be a farmer, but if Norton goes to Congress he will see that he needs some knowledge of law in order to cope successfully with the lawyers in Congress from the north and east. He then went into issues. He favors an income tax. If we can't get free trade then let us have a tariff that will give equal protection to all sections. He agrees with Tillman and McLaurin on that. Tax luxuries and not necessities, he said. He then went into the silver question. Gold has gone up and silver down. Cotton and everything else has followed silver. He favors the free coinage of silver, independent of all other nations. Don't wait for anybody. Some of his opponents said he was an office-holder. That speaks well for him, he said; shows he is liked. The men who are fighting him on this have been defeated for office; he never has been he said, and that shows who is the most popular. Vote for the man who will represent you best.

J. M. JOHNSON,

At the close of Mr. Johnson's speech Mr. McLaurin took the floor and said Mr. Johnson was elected in 1892 by trading with Strait men in Chesterfield county against Townsend. This was denied by Mr. G. T. Bullard, who was in the audience. Mr. Bullard said he was a resident of Chesterfield at the time and was in the convention of 1892, and no such trade was made. Mr. Johnson also said it was untrue. McLaurin said he had been told so, but had no proof of it.

This closed the meeting and the chairman declared it adjourned.

The candidates went up to Lake City Friday afternoon and spoke there Saturday. They covered pretty much the same ground that they did here. The meeting was presided over by Senator A. H. Williams, and the speaking took place from the depot platform in the presence of about 150 people.

Mr. Norton was the last speaker and got into a colloquy with Mr. A. A. Prown about some property that was not on the tax books, and which Mr. Brown had reported to the auditor then to the comptroller general, but found no relief. Mr. Norton said he was not to blame. Mr. Brown said that Norton had written him he would have it attended to, and had not done so. Mr. Norton said he had referred the matter to the auditor and that was he could do. The discussion caused some applause.

Quinine and other fever medicines take from 5 to 10 days to cure fever. Johnson's Chill and Fever Tonic cures in ONE DAY.

Death keeps its own secrets and takes nobody into its confidence. What is it to die, we can actually know only by dying; and the knowledge thus gained we can never give to whom we have left behind us.

It is said dogs in a wild state do not bark. An investigator is led to believe that the true reason for their barking was their endeavor to talk to man. Wild dogs howl and whine but do not bark. In the wilds of Egypt the shepherd dog makes a soft, peculiar noise, but it does not suggest barking.

"Last summer one of our grandchildren was sick with a severe bowel trouble," says Mrs. E. G. Gregory, of Fredricktown, Mo. Our doctor's remedy had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief." For sale by Dr. W. L. Wallace Drug gist.

Good crops and melons in profusion.

Our farmers are jubilant over the encouraging outlook of the cotton crop, and fair prices it is hoped that they will experience no trouble in "making ends meet" when the fleecy staple is marketed.

Messrs. F. Rhem & Sons have recently had artesian well bored at their Gapway place. This is the fourth well these gentlemen have had bored, three of the number being used to supply water for their turpentine distilleries. They claim that it is more economical than the old system and a great deal more satisfactory than the force pump run by steam.

Mr. L. W. Nesmith, who has been studying telegraphy at Salters depot, is down visiting relatives and friends. He anticipates leaving at an early date for Macon Ga. where he expects to pursue a course in the Georgia-Alabama Business College.

Misses Virginia Coker and Ethel Nesmith, two popular young ladies of our section are visiting relatives in Darlington.

Mrs. G. B. Eaddy and children are off on a pleasant sojourn among relatives in Florence.

Mr. D. D. Rhem remains quite ill, not having recovered from his recent illness. He intends visiting Glenn Springs where it is hoped he may be fully restored to health.

Messrs. John Rose and Jim Robbin, two well known stock dealers of Walhalla, S. C., are among us; having made a large "sheep deal" with Messrs. Rhem & Sons.

Rev. W. D. Moorer preached an able sermon at the Black Mingo Baptist church Sunday morning, his subject being "the resurrection of the dead," which was an interesting discourse and elicited close attention from his hearers.

Mrs. Sarah Bryan, a most estimable lady formerly of this place, but now of Plantersville, is visiting Mrs. D. D. Rhem.

Mr. G. B. Eaddy one of our most successful melon growers and an all round good fellow says the season is too far advanced to enter the "Record melon contest" based on size; however if the same rule applies to the most luscious, he adds that you can "count him a hog in" as he is confident that his melons are as sweet as any in the county and we sanction the assertion as they have been "sampled" to an alarming extent by—

JACK FISH.

Keep Up Your Scott's Emulsion in Summer-time

What are your resources for the summer? Have you an abundance of health stowed away for the long, hot, depleting days, or does summer find you low in vitality, run down, losing flesh, and weak? Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil will give you the proper reserve force, because it builds up the system on a solid foundation. A tonic may stimulate; Scott's Emulsion not only "boosts," it sustains.

It is a wise precaution always to have at least a small bottle of Scott's Emulsion in the home. Uncapped, it will keep indefinitely. Tightly corked, after being kept in a cool place, it will remain sweet for weeks.
